3. Definitions and concepts
Definition	official development assistance (ODA) payments
Basic concepts:	The Development Assistance Committee (DAC) defines ODA as “those flows to countries and territories on the List of Recipients of ODA and other multilateral institutions that: (i) are official institutions, including State and local governments, or their executive bodies; and (ii) each operation is carried out to promote economic development and enhance the well-being of developing countries. This is their key goal; and the concessional nature of this reflects the subsidized portion, which is at least 25 percent (calculated at a discount rate of 10 percent). http://www.oecd.org/dac/stats/officialdevelopmentassistancedefinitionandcoverage.htm
Justification and interpretation	Aggregate ODA flows to developing countries measure the public efforts of donors to developing countries.
4. Data sources and collection methods
Data sources	The data is provided by donors according to OECD standards and methodologies
Data collection methods	The author of the statistical reports is responsible for collecting DAC statistics in each country/agency. This author is usually located at the national aid agency, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs or Finance, etc.
Unit of measurement	Percent
Periodicity	The data is provided annually (calendar year) based on statistical reports from the national administration (aid agencies, Ministries of Foreign Affairs or Finance, etc.)
5. Calculation method and other methodological considerations
Calculation method:	The ratio of net ODA as a percentage of total national income.
Comments and	The OECD/DAC has been collecting data on ODA flows since 1960
